

Hamm Order Protects Teamster Membership Injunction Is Issued On Friday Statewide Action Seen by Attorneys

The membership of Teamsters Local 445 is protected from alleged discrimination by its purported officials in a temporary injunction issued Friday by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm of Troy.

The injunction is on a motion argued before Judge Hamm last January in Kingston.

JUDGE HAMM'S sweeping order restrains Lester Stickle, secretary-treasurer of the union, Philip Massiello, business agent, and other defendants from depriving any member of Local 445 (Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan, Rockland counties and part of Green county) of his rights, benefits and privileges or from suspending or expelling or otherwise interfering with his good standing.

It further restrains the defendants from interfering or discriminating against any member in his right to work as a member of Local 445 and grants other injunctive relief.

INSTITUTION of action was begun last year by Attorneys Francis Martocci and Robert Ortale of Kingston on behalf of Theodore G. Daley of Poughkeepsie, a member of Local 445, who claims he is the duly elected secretary-treasurer.

The action has opened the way for the present grand jury investigation being conducted by the U. S. Attorney's office in New York city and Frank Hogan, New York county district attorney, into alleged mob control of teamsters locals and the tie-up between racketeers and the garment and other trucking industries in and about the metropolitan area.

AT PRESENT two teamster officials have been sentenced by Federal Judge Noonan for refusal to answer questions before the grand jury and to produce books and records covering affairs of their locals.

One, Johnnie Dio, a convicted extortioner, refused to answer questions before a New York county grand jury Friday and has been cited for contempt.

Mr. Martocci and Mr. Ortale said today they intend to move promptly to bring the case to trial and to "clean up the mess that exists within this local union."

TRIAL WILL be convened May 7 in Kingston with Justice Isadore Bookstein presiding.

Attorneys for the Daley group, which claims to represent the rank and file of the membership, said the action had brought about an investigation by two law enforcement agencies and the investigation might become statewide.

Mr. Martocci and Mr. Ortale pointed out that several teamster officials of Local 294, Albany had recently been convicted of extortion and indictments were pending against officials in the western part of the state.

IN HIS OPINION handed down Friday Judge Hamm said that "the plaintiffs also charge failure to account for hundreds of thousands of dollars in union and welfare funds. This is denied by the defendants but no information is furnished as to the Scaled bids on the reconstruction of the controversial Notch road (Route 214) and on 22 other construction projects will be opened in Albany Thursday, June 7, by the State Department of Public Works according to an announcement by John W. Johnson, state superintendent of public works.

No bids were received on the April 19 letting for the reconstruction of 3.98 miles of Route 214 from a point on the Ulster-Greene county line between Chichester and Lanesville and extending northeastward to Edgewood. The job is estimated at $815,000.

Included in the 23 jobs are projects mentioned by Governor Harriman in his May 2 announcement of an expanded highway construction program.

The jobs involve 87.84 miles of highway construction in 20 counties throughout the state and have been estimated at a total cost of $32,993,000.

The sealed bids will be opened publicly at 10:30 a. m. DST in hearing room No. 1 of the Gov. Alfred E. Smith State Office Building.

Approval Is Given For 2 Area Schools

State Education Department approved plans for two new proposed buildings in the Saugerties Central School system at a meeting this week in Albany with Saugerties Board of Education and Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of Saugerties schools.

The approved plans of erecting a new junior-senior central high school building proposed for the Valley Farm site on the northern boundary of the village of Saugerties and a new 10-room grade school in Mt. Marion now requires taxpayers approval of a $3,200,000 bond issue to cover the costs of the new buildings and remodeling of existing school buildings.

THE PLANS presented included cost estimates of the two new buildings and funds required for the purchase of equipment, development of sites and payment of professional and incidental services.

In conference with the Buildings and Grounds Division of the department were also members of the Sargeant, Webster, Crenshaw and Foley of Syracuse, architects for the proposed Saugerties school buildings.

Saugerties board members present at the Albany session were William Ziegler, president; Charles Riccardi, Mrs. Agnes Schroeder, Mrs. Mary Lasher, John Lowther, Robert Herb and Henry Haussler.

ANOTHER all-day session this week was held with a representative of the Bureau of School Financial Services to study the financial arrangements and to arrive at a cost figure for the new buildings.

Under the proposed expansion plan of the central school district, the Mt. Marion school will have 10 rooms, principal's office and special rooms. The present Main Street School building with 30 rooms will be used as a grade school. Glasco's 10 room school, the Malden three-room school and the Flatbush two room school will continue to be used.

FOLLOWING a favorable vote on the bond issue which according to a schedule set up by the Saugerties Board of Education should be presented for taxpayer approval by July 1, the architects can be authorized to prepare complete plans and specifications which after approval of local school authorities and the Commissioner of Education will be a basis of securing bids for the construction of the new buildings.

The architect with the assistance of legal counsel will advise the board as to advertising procedure and the receiving and opening of bids.

The Board of Education also proposes preparing a brochure showing the inadequacies of the present facilities; enrollment figures indicating predictions for the future; coverages of cost factors including school operating costs, bond amortization, tax rates and anticipated budget figures.

Union Hose to Get New Engine Today

The first of two new American LaFrance pumping engines recently purchased by the board of fire commissioners was scheduled to be officially installed in its new headquarters at Union Hose Co., East Union street, following a parade at 2 p. m. today.

City and fire department officials, led by Chief James M. Brett, grand marshal, were scheduled to parade with the engine from the Central station through the downtown section to the firehouse.

The Port Ewen Drum Corps was to head the line of march which was to include Mayor Frederick H. Stang, the Board of Fire Commissioners, Deputy Chief George Matthews, Donald J. Matthews, foreman of Union Hose, Edward Ashby, Ulster county commissioner of jurors, fifth ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry and fifth ward Supervisor James P. Fiore.

The parade route was scheduled as follows: East O'Reilly street to Broadway to Ferry street to Abruyn street to Grove street to Lindsley avenue to Delaware avenue to Abruyn street to East Union street.

The two pumping engines, purchased at a cost of $34,974, were tested and approved this week by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The tests were supervised by Deputy Chief Matthews. The second engine is scheduled to be assigned to Excelsior Hose Co., Hurley avenue.

The engine scheduled to be headquartered at Union Hose—The Invader—has a Class A rating of 750 GPM (gallons per minute) and is capable of producing five very large size one and an eighth-inch streams from a hydrant, pumping 1,500 gallons per minute, Chief Brett said.

The chief explained that it is capable of supplying 10 pumping streams on a fire, which, he said, greatly increases the pumping capacity of department apparatus. The cost of each truck is $17,487, he reported.

Riesel Totally Blind

New York, May 5 (AP)—Victor Riesel, labor columnist who for years tried to shed light on labor racketeering, has lost the sight of both eyes. Sulfuric acid was thrown in his face one month ago today.

Four eye specialists announced yesterday they had been unable to save the sight of the 41-year-old Riesel, set upon early April 5 as he left a Broadway restaurant. A few hours earlier, Riesel had made a radio attack on labor union racketeering.

Robert M. Hall, president of the syndicate that distributes Riesel's column of the New York Daily Mirror and 192 other newspapers, said yesterday: "There is no hope at all now that Victor Riesel will ever see again."

HALL ADDED that Riesel will continue his column with the aid of assistants.

Nearly $40,000 in rewards have failed to turn up any clue to the columnist's assailant, described only as a slender, black-haired man wearing a blue and white lumberjacket. The FBI as well as local police have been conducting an intensive manhunt.

An associate said the news of his blindness was broken gradually to Riesel in his hospital room Thursday night and yesterday.

"HE TOOK IT beautifully—like a major," the unidentified associate said.

He added, however, that friends feared a depression reaction may set in later.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who was in Houston, Tex., for a speech sent a telegram to Riesel last night saying:

"I have just heard the tragic news. Efforts should be redoubled to discover and punish the perpetrator of this vicious act. You have my deepest personal sympathy."

YESTERDAY'S report by the eye specialists said in part: "The cumulative, degenerative processes stemming from the deep and severe acid burns in Mr. Riesel's eyes proved impossible to overcome."

"The concentration of sulfuric acid thrown into Mr. Riesel's eyes was so strong that it destroyed the tissues of the eyelids surrounding the corneas and degenerated the blood vessels feeding nourishment to the corneas."

"This severe damage has resulted in loss of sight in both eyes."

RIESEL BUILT up a national reputation reporting on labor during the past 10 years. His father was an anti-racketeering union leader who died some years ago following a brutal beating—presumably provoked by his crusading actions.

The attack on Riesel came without warning as he left Lindy's Restaurant, Broadway and 51st street, about 3 a. m. With him at the time was Miss Betty Nevins, who assists him in his newspaper and radio work. She was not harmed.

Hall, terming the acid attack worse than murder, told newsmen: "THIS WAS A damnable act calculated to plunge a fellow human being into the living death of darkness, frustration and helplessness. The hoodlums of the nation might be able to blind one newspaperman's eyes but they have not dimmed his memories or his powers."

Record Attendance Expected For Traffic Meeting Monday

A report on the referendum conducted among the members of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association, Inc., which disclosed that a majority of the votes cast favored return of North Front street and Clinton avenue to two-way traffic, is expected to bring out a record number of members Monday night.

A meeting will be held at the Court House at 7 p. m. at which time the one-way traffic situation will be discussed.

"Since the majority of the members by their vote indicated a desire to return to two-way on both North Front street and Clinton avenue and give more than one-way entrance to the uptown shopping area, this matter will have to be thoroughly discussed and some final recommendation made," one of the members said today.

The majority of the votes indicated the association membership was not in favor of the present one-way plan in its entirety and that North Front street and Clinton avenue should be re-opened to two-way traffic.

Sales tax and parking will also come before the meeting Monday night.

Rhee Foe Dies; Shots Follow Demonstration

Seoul, May 5 (AP)—P. H. Shinicky, 61, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage during a campaign trip to unseat President Syngman Rhee in the May 15 elections. Supporters of the dead candidate later marched on Rhee's mansion and police fired on the screaming mob. First reports said at least five persons had been wounded.

A crowd of 20,000 supporters waited through a downpour at the Seoul station for the train bringing Shinicky's body back to the capital. As the train chugged in, they smashed windows of the station and crowded past guards onto the platform.

They joined in singing the Korean national anthem, then surged out into the street in a march on the Rhee mansion. The shouting crowd broke through a roadblock about 200 yards in front of Rhee's home. Then gunfire crackled.

Police said they fired into the air. Eyewitnesses said the police fired directly into the demonstrators. A police spokesman said the crowd fired first, using weapons seized from a sentry box. He said two or more police were wounded.

Two truckloads of military police arrived and the demonstrators fled. Police swarmed through nearby houses and arrested more than 30 persons, including some women.

"I must go home," one woman pleaded tearfully. "I'm not one of the crowd. I have a baby at home."

The police forced their prisoners to clasp hands behind their heads. "Don't beat them," a commander shouted. "Just arrest them."

The crowd had gathered in response to loudspeaker appeals to meet the train returning Shinicky's body.

Police cordoned off the area around Rhee's home. Shinicky's death left the field to Rhee and Moscow-trained Cho Bong Am, who renounced communism in 1946, served briefly in a Rhee cabinet, and was chosen to head the ticket of the newly organized Progressive party.

Shinicky was the candidate of the Democratic party, second in strength only to Rhee's Liberal party. A government source said the party could not enter a new candidate because the deadline for qualifying is past.

Graham Is Guilty; Lawyers to Appeal

Denver, May 5 (AP)—Death in Colorado's gas chamber was decreed last night for John Gilbert Graham, 24, who confessed—then refuted—dynamiting an airliner that hurled his mother and 43 others to death.

Seven men and five women jurors deliberated 72 minutes before returning a conviction of first degree murder in the death of Graham's well-to-do mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

IN HIS instructions to the jurors, Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald had advised they must determine whether Graham's confession was voluntary before it could be considered as direct evidence justifying infliction of the death penalty.

During the trial, FBI agents presented oral and written confessions by Graham. Graham took the stand in absence of the jury to deny their truth. He said he gave them under threats of the FBI. He contended they threatened to arrest his wife for lying and that he gave the statements to protect her. Graham did not testify before the jury.

Graham, father of two, bit his lower lip but otherwise showed no emotion as Judge McDonald read the death verdict. He told reporters: "I'm innocent."

"OF COURSE, we'll appeal," said Charles S. Vigil, one of Graham's three court-appointed lawyers. Judge McDonald granted the defense 10 days to file a new trial motion. Graham will not be formally sentenced by the judge until that motion is heard.

Graham took out two air trip insurance policies on his mother's life naming him the beneficiary. Each would have paid him $37,500.

He confessed to the FBI last Nov. 13 that he slipped a 25-stick dynamite time bomb in Mrs. King's suitcase before she left Denver last Nov. 1 on a United Air Lines plane for a trip to Anchorage, Alaska.

Drive to Organize State Dairy Farmers Spreading

Utica, May 5 (AP)—An official of the Teamsters union says its drive to organize dairy farmers now is widespread in the New York milkshed.

Michael Walsh, an international organizer, told about 80 farmers last night that a membership of about 35,000 to 40,000 dairymen should prove an effective bargaining group. About 50,000 farmers supply the metropolitan market.

The meeting was billed as an organizing session, the second within a week at Paris Hill, about 10 miles south of here.

It could not be learned, however, whether any farmers joined the union last night.

Trio Would Survey Two New Fields Offensive Move Urged by Lloyd

Paris, May 5 (AP)—The NATO foreign ministers agreed today to entrust their next moves in the battle of peaceful coexistence to "three wise men," as suggested by the United States.

British sources said the ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council endorsed the proposal at a secret session.

U. S. SECRETARY of State Dulles made the proposal yesterday in a survey of NATO's future in the political and economic domains, saying the organization should be strengthened in those fields. British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd supported the proposal today.

Lloyd urged the appointment of Canada's Lester B. Pearson, Italy's Gaetano Martino, and Norway's Halvard Lange as the "three wise men" to map out a plan for NATO's development.

They are members of the NATO Council.

THE MAJOR GOAL would be to win over the uncommitted peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East to the western side.

British sources said that while the Dulles idea was endorsed this morning, the council did not get around to naming any individuals for the assignment.

The three foreign ministers would be asked to work as individuals instead of as representatives of their governments in hammering out a joint plan for bulwarking NATO in the political and economic fields.

THE THREE WOULD work from a base of the various proposals advanced yesterday.

Lloyd delivered a major policy statement on Britain's views toward NATO's future, urging that the organization take the offensive in the political sphere instead of reacting to Soviet attitudes.

He made these points:

1. In the political field NATO should take the offensive by making a positive presentation of western ideas and ideals to the rest of the world. The emphasis would be on freedom of thought, freedom of trade union organization, and freedom of political organization.

2. IN "THE MILITARY field NATO must maintain its strength essential for safety of the free world."

3. In the economic field NATO should at the moment be doing for underdeveloped areas (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

UN Chief Leaves For Home With Mission Report

Rome, May 5 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld, his lengthy report on his peace mission to the Middle East virtually completed, left Rome by plane today for New York.

"We have erected new bases," the UN secretary general told reporters at Rome's Ciampino Airport. "It is now up to the governments to do something."

Hammarskjöld was referring to the cease-fire agreements he has obtained from Israel and her Arab neighbors. He declined to amplify his statement.

Hammarskjöld put in 19 hours yesterday, going over final arrangements with his top aides.

His plane will stop in Paris where he will make connections with a New York bound plane.

JUST BEFORE he boarded the plane in Rome, Hammarskjöld had a 15-minute conversation with Vittorio Badini Confalonieri, Italy's under-secretary for foreign affairs.

Hammarskjöld spent part of his final hours here finishing up the report he will deliver to the UN security council which sent him on the mission to seek ways to ease Arab-Israeli tensions.

Security council delegates plan to stage a warm welcome for Hammarskjöld when he arrives in New York Sunday. After greeting the delegates, the secretary general is expected to make a short statement to newsmen.

IN 25 DAYS of personal diplomacy, Hammarskjöld won cease-fire pledges from Israel and four Arab neighbors—Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon. The exact extent to which these pledges commit each state will not be known until the security council convenes—probably within a week.

A brief spat between the Arab allies yesterday revealed they do not see eye to eye on how far the agreements bind them.

Butler Attacks Ike's Defense of Chotiner Action

Madison, Wis., May 5 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said last night that he called President Eisenhower's defense of Murray H. Chotiner "shocking," and decried the "distorted sense of what is right and what is wrong in the White House."

Butler told a press conference that "the Republicans who ran in 1952 with promises of a high degree of public morality, are hard, living up to their promises."

BUTLER ASSERTED that "had a Democratic president acted in a like manner, the press would have screamed for censure, if not impeachment."

President Eisenhower said Friday that there were absolutely no grounds for belief that there was anything improper in White House visits by Chotiner, an attorney who was Vice President Nixon's 1952 campaign manager.

Chotiner previously told a Senate committee that he had talked with two members of the White House staff about cases with which he was connected as an attorney.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. from the late residence, thence to St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered at 10:30 a. m. for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Modena Child Clinic

A Child Health Conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Hasbrouck Hall in Modena Monday, May 14, 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, instruction regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Texas Democrats Vote Today for Ballot Control

Dallas, May 5 (AP)—Texas Democrats, meeting in more than 5,000 precinct conventions, today choose between Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Gov. Allan Shivers in a bitter "Loyalist vs. Conservative" battle for control of the state's delegation to the national convention.

The fight, more than a personal struggle for power between the state's two top political figures, is a continuation of the 1952 split in the ranks of Texas Democrats to support Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, for president.

AT STAKE in today's precinct conventions are Texas' 56 votes in the National Convention at Chicago and control of state Democratic machinery for at least the next two years.

Shivers, a strong exponent of state's rights, has said he has no apologies for supporting President Eisenhower in 1952 and that he will not support the Democratic ticket this year unless the presidential nominee is acceptable to him. He has called the election "a referendum on Texas thinking rather than Washington thinking."

Johnson, the Senate majority leader who backed the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, has called for a "united delegation representing all Texas Democrats, not just one faction."

Area Woman Now Sought in N.Y.

Cornwall, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—The hunt for a missing air force officer's wife shifted last night after a bus driver reported seeing a woman answering her description board a New York bound bus at Harriman.

State police temporarily called off their search for Mrs. Mary Dennison, 45, in this area and asked New York city police to check clues provided by the driver.

Mrs. Dennison, wife of Lt. Col. Jack A. Dennison, apparently vanished from the smashed, blood-stained wreckage of her car Thursday. The empty wreck was found at the bottom of a ravine off the Storm King highway near here.

Mrs. Dennison was en route from her home outside Stewart Air Force Base to the West Point Hospital 11 miles away. Police said she was on her way to visit a psychiatrist.

Last night bus driver George Kent told police he saw a woman with two black eyes and a rough bandage on her nose transfer from a Newburgh bus to a New York city bus at Harriman yesterday morning.

The bus arrived at the Port Authority Terminal in New York at 1:25 p. m. after 12 scheduled stops.

Meanwhile, the ticket agent in Newburgh said he had sold a ticket to a woman answering Mrs. Dennison's description. Both the driver and the agent said she was wearing a red, fingertip-length cloth coat that appeared to be blotched with bloodstains.

Mrs. Dennison was described as being 5 feet 4 and having blue eyes and black hair.

present condition of either welfare or union finances."

The judge pointed out in his opinion that it was obviously futile for the plaintiffs to appeal to the executive board of Local 445 "since they are the defendants whose acts are complained of."

THE COURT also pointed out that resort to higher authorities within the international union, including its general president, David Beck, was futile and completely ignored.

Judge Hamm pointed out further that Mr. Daley, who has been leading the fight in Local 445, complained to the international union while he was in a Poughkeepsie hospital "after two wheels of the tractor-trailer I was driving came off," that another member of the local, James Hopkins, sent the plaintiffs in the action, sent a letter to Beck stating that "one driver has been shot at and other trouble . . . When are you going to do something or are we going to wait until somebody is killed?"

They were advised that the matter was under consideration and that a decision would be forthcoming but despite the fact that these communications had been sent in November, 1955, no decision has been made or action taken by Beck or the executive board of the union to correct the deplorable conditions existing in this union, Judge Hamm stated.

THE DALEY GROUP maintains that its slate of officers was duly elected at telegram to the membership December 12 in Yonkers but that the Stickless Massiello group had refused to concede its loss of the election.

Two Men Killed In State Mishaps

Morrisville, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Two men from Eaton were killed today and three other persons were injured in separate highway accidents six miles apart in Madison county.

Frederick Otto Smith, 21, of Eaton, was killed shortly after midnight when an automobile in which he was riding struck a tree and overturned on the Solville-Munnsville road north-east of Morrisville.

FOUR HOURS later, Floyd Labarge, about 50, was killed when his truck struck a ditch on the Morrisville-Eaton road. Labarge was pinned underneath the truck.

Roland Granger, 19, of Cuba, who state police said was riding with Labarge, was injured. State police said Albert Lee Pearson, 22, of RD Hamilton, was the driver of the car in the Smith death. Pearson was reported in serious condition at Faxon Hospital, Utica, with a head injury. Truman Hoke, 18, of Hamilton, the other occupant suffered a broken leg.

Drive to . . .

first Paris Hill meeting last week.

As to his motives, Cole commented: "I'm just a small farmer and, doggone it all, I'm just sick of being kicked around too much."

Cole said Rocco De Perno, president of the New York State Teamsters Council, and Harold Ulrich, secretary of Local 182, were helping the farmers organize. De Perno also is president and business agent of the local.

When asked for comment, De Perno said: "We have been requested by farmers for several years to take them in and we've refused. Now we think it is time we should help them."

"We're not out looking for farmers but if they want to join we'll take them in."

He declined to comment further.

Milk prices paid to farmers in the New York milkshed have fallen steadily over the last five years. Farmers say their costs have risen meanwhile.

Several new dairy organizations have sprung up in the last two years.

There is some talk of a possible milk strike in the late summer.

Rhee Foe . . .

a train carrying him to Iri, 125 miles south of Seoul. He was taken to the Iri Hospital where he died.

The body was brought back to Seoul by train. A crowd of Shinky supporters estimated at 20,000 smashed station windows, pushed aside guards and swarmed over the railroad platform as the train arrived. They had waited, weeping and wailing, for nearly an hour in a driving rain.

"We can't live. Let's change," the crowd chanted, repeating over and over again the Democratic party slogan.

Party chiefs led the crowd in singing the Korean National Anthem in a maneuver aimed at keeping the mourners out of the coach carrying Shinicky's body.

Like Rhee, Shinicky was a longtime fighter for Korean independence. He lived 25 years in exile in China until the defeat of Japan in World War 2 ended Japanese rule of his homeland.

A gray-haired man who always had a Chinese proverb at the tip of his tongue, Shinicky was rated the only opponent capable of drawing a substantial vote against Rhee.

He drew a crowd estimated at from 150,000 to 300,000 to a political rally at Seoul Thursday.

He resided in Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Roosevelt said, and she completely agreed with that statement.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who has backed Adlai Stevenson since he tossed his hat in the political ring, repeated her support of the former Illinois governor.

She said she felt that Mr. Stevenson "has an intimate and broad concept of foreign affairs problems" which she believed was lacking in Sen. Estes Kefauver who is also a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Attorney Thomas J. Plunkett, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, introduced Norman Kellar as chairman of the meeting. A question and answer period followed her talk.

Boy, 15, Faces Murder Charge in Teacher Killing

Seat Pleasant, Md., May 5 (AP)—A 15-year-old junior high school boy who police said went gunning for his school principal faced a murder charge today in the fatal shooting of a teacher.

Police said Billy Ray Prevatt also wounded two other male teachers yesterday when he went through the Maryland Park Junior High School firing a rifle. One of the teachers is in critical condition.

THE BOY had been expelled two months ago from a school in Raleigh, N. C., after threatening a teacher there.

The shooting came after a teacher had sent the boy to talk with the principal because he had not handed in a written assignment. The teacher who initiated the reprimand escaped unharmed, as did the principal, John Hrezo.

The school is located on the outskirts of Washington. State Attorney Blair H. Smith late yesterday ordered young Prevatt charged with murder, two counts of assault with intent to kill and two counts of assault with a deadly weapon. Prevatt was jailed in Upper Marlboro, Md., to await a preliminary hearing next Friday.

Fatally shot was Frazier Cameron, a 32-year-old widower from Westfield, N. J. Athletic Coach Francis D. Wagner, 25, was wounded in the chest and his condition was listed as critical. Robert Hicks, 31, was wounded in the hand while trying to disarm the boy.

When questioned by police, Prevatt said he didn't know why he shot Cameron.

"He treated me fine in school," the boy was quoted as saying.

newspaperman but they cannot blind a nation's entire press."

Hall said Riesel's column will continue under his byline.

AT MIDNIGHT preceding the assault, Riesel substituted for radio commentator Barry Gray while the latter was on vacation.

Riesel interviewed two unionists, Bill Wilkins and Peter Batallas, who are fighting the leadership of the Long Island local of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

In his broadcast, Riesel assailed William De Koning and his son, William Jr., both convicted extortionists who have run the local for many years.

THE ENGINEERS' local has contributed to the reward fund built up by newspapers, newspaper organizations and labor unions.

De Koning Jr. has denied that he or his son had any knowledge of the attack on Riesel.

Reds Will Produce Salk Polio Vaccine

London, May 5 (AP)—Moscow radio said today the Soviet Union is going to produce polio vaccine developed in the United States by Dr. Jonas Salk.

The broadcast quoted Prof. Mikhail Chumakov, head of the Soviet Institute for the Study of Poliomyelitis, as saying in an interview: "The U. S. A.'s most important achievement in study and treatment of poliomyelitis is Dr. Salk's vaccine. We are convinced it is an effective vaccine and we are going to produce it here in the Soviet Union."

On April 13, 1955, President Eisenhower announced that as a gesture of international good will the United States would give the Salk vaccine formula to all nations, including Russia and other Red countries.

Graham Is . . .

died with Mrs. King when the airliner exploded near Longmont, Colo., 11 minutes after the take-off.

Graham's 22-year-old wife, Gloria, broke down and sobbed hysterically for several minutes after the verdict was returned. She was comforted by a neighbor, Mrs. Helene West, one of the eight witnesses called by the defense in presenting less than three hours testimony.

"I can never get used to a jury coming in with the death verdict," said Dist. Atty. Bert M. Keating, who called 75 witnesses and presented 130 exhibits in the state's case.

IN HIS CLOSING argument to the jury, Keating said: "If this is not a crime for the death of a woman in the history of the world was there ever a case that merited the extreme penalty?"

Keating called the case: "Matricide for money."

Vigil and another of Graham's lawyers, John J. Gibbons, painted Graham as a "psychopathic liar." Vigil asked the jury: "What are the lies and what are the truths? If he's lying in this statement (his confession to the FBI) he shouldn't be found guilty."

Ralph W. Bonar, foreman of the jury that heard evidence and arguments for 11 days, said all but five minutes of the jury's deliberation was devoted to reading the court's instructions.

"WE AGREED on the first ballot with very little discussion," Bonar said.

The case went to the jury at 11:45 p. m. (EST) and the jury signaled at 12:57 a. m. (EST) that it had reached its verdict.

The mountain evidence against Graham was built mostly by the FBI, which assigned 30 agents to investigate the crash.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 5, 1956

HOSPITAL WEEK

Sunday, May 6, marks the beginning of National Hospital Week. It is worthwhile to pause to reflect on what Hospital Week means to residents of a community.

Residents of Kingston and Ulster County are fortunate in having three accredited hospitals. The Benedictine, Kingston and Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital have been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Accreditation of a hospital means that a hospital has voluntarily submitted to a survey of its facilities and its patient care. It is a badge of recognition which the hospital can display to its community to prove that it conforms to high standards of patient care.

The hospitals are rated on certain basic requirements such as a safe physical plant free from fire hazards; proper supervisions and review by the medical staff of the clinical work done in the hospital; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissue removed at operation; mortality rates that are within reasonable limits; proper nursing care.

Dr. K. B. Hancock, commission director, says that the survey covers the essentials of good patient care. The accreditation program is a tribute not only to the organizations which support it but to the hospitals which make it possible by their willingness to have their patient care judged by objective criteria. It is proof that, with few exceptions our hospitals are striving constantly to improve the care they render.

Most of us are indebted to some hospital which, by using its special services, facilities and skills, has saved or prolonged the life of a loved one, or helped us back to health.

It is well to recall the key role of the hospital in maintaining the nation's health.

COURTESY WILL HELP

The problem of accident prevention in the City of Kingston and on the highways throughout Ulster County is greater today because of the increased traffic volume. It might be well for all motor vehicle operators to bear this in mind when starting out in their cars.

With the coming of good weather, many more motorists will be on local highways for longer periods and a greater understanding of the impact of their own actions while driving will be necessary if we are to reduce the toll of deaths and injuries.

Traffic safety is not entirely the job of public officials. The police, legislature and the courts cannot do it alone, for though stricter enforcement of law, better control and safer roads will help, the drivers are basically responsible.

Motor vehicle operators must accept their responsibility. They must want traffic safety bad enough so that it becomes a part of their personal, ethical and moral code, in addition to statutory law.

A display of common courtesy by all drivers will be a big help in stemming the tide of human and property loss. Genuine, old-fashioned good manners and courtesy is not only desirable, but wise in itself. Try practicing a little courtesy the next time you go out into your car.

A too common attitude is illustrated by the true experience of a driver who, stopping at an intersection, had another car crash into him from rear. When the victim got out to protest, the offender justified himself by exclaiming, "It's not my fault! I got no brakes."

A New York City teacher has left school teaching temporarily to be a professional clown. More money, he says. Also good experience for handling the kids when he resumes teaching.

Sometimes we wish the personnel experts would stop worrying about personality tests and the higher things in life and see what could be done about another telephone line and slightly better ventilation.

HISS AT PRINCETON

Undoubtedly the most significant fact about Alger Hiss' lecture at Princeton is that Hiss said nothing that was interesting, startling or even important. He delivered a polite lecture on Geneva with some references to Yalta and added neither light nor heat to either conference. What- ever he knows about Yalta that has not been published, he kept to himself although this could have been an opportunity to make an invaluable contribution to history.

The reporters and photographers who went to Princeton to hear the intimate revelations of an ex-spy were fooled. There was an overtone of scholarship and a whimsical response to questions, but no revelations. They might just as well have stayed at home and watched some escapism drama on television. What they should have noted was that the small Princeton society which gave Hiss rising plaudits at the end of his short speech has nothing to remember except that it did something extraordinary; it brought an ex-convict to Princeton to lecture not on crime but on history and international politics.

Perhaps some professor of sociology will one day invite Lucky Luciano to lecture on the gentle art of dope pushing. Certainly Lucky knows more about it than any academic sociologist. It could even happen some day that a professor in the department of international relations or a student society specializing in this field will invite Burgess and Maclean to come to the United States to lecture on high-class espionage and how not to get caught. Burgess might provide interesting overtones.

That is about all that the Hiss lecture at Princeton amounted to. It is part of a program to rehabilitate Alger Hiss. He naturally has a right to aspire to rehabilitation and it is understandable that his friends would want to assist him. It is also understandable that he should believe that time will work in his favor and that a younger generation, like these boys at Princeton, will wonder what it was all about and not take the trouble to find out. Nobody will get college credits for finding out.

But when it comes to rehabilitation, Alger Hiss will be up against the fact that he has not told his story in public. Rehabilitation can only follow a public explanation of his extraordinary conduct. Alger Hiss went to prison not for espionage but for perjury. In a word, after two trials, it was held by court and jury that he had not told the truth concerning his personal relations with a Soviet Russian espionage ring while he was in the State Department in an important position. That is the record that stands.

It is possible to say that Hiss has paid his debt to society and ought never again to be molested or questioned. But has he paid his debt to society? The problem here is one of morals. Had Hiss been convicted of embezzlement, of burglary, of kidnapping, it would be possible to say that serving a period in prison pays one's debt to society. But Alger Hiss was convicted of perjury in relation to espionage. It would seem to me that the only way he can purge himself of the offense is to tell the verifiable truth concerning the espionage, otherwise the question will always arise to plague him as to whether he really was a spy.

It is a tough problem because we must take it for granted that Hiss does not believe that he will benefit by blandly announcing to the world that what Whittaker Chambers and others said is true and that he did act for Russia when he was employed to act for the United States. Surely he must be ill-advised that silence about his case will achieve rehabilitation in public opinion. Yet morally there is nothing less that he can do, because the record stands and having a place in our society. Perhaps he does not care; then why did he go to Princeton to deliver an address in his chosen field? Before Princeton, whoever is his turned Hiss down. Obviously Hiss does care and does seek rehabilitation. His task then is to humble himself, as one must do, before the truth, whatever he knows it to be.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DIET OF THE SICK CHILD

There was an old saying in my family, and probably in many others as well, that if a child ate his meals it was not really sick, no matter what he complained of. This is pretty generally true as a rule. To a certain extent appetite represents the natural craving for food but there are many things which may affect it. These include faulty hygiene such as too much time spent indoors, too little exercise, overuse of alcohol, tobacco or drugs. We should remember also that the appetite can be affected adversely by a poorly cooked and badly served meal.

Dr. K. H. Tallerman, in The Practitioner, states that any attempt to force a sick child to eat is a mistake and is reasonably certain to end in failure. Small drinks and small amounts of tempting food offered at frequent intervals is the best plan. At first the greatest need of the sick child is for fluids, especially if there is much fever or diarrhea. The electrolyte balance in the body can, in general, be maintained by supplying salt, and extra calories can be supplied by glucose or lactose, both of which, being less sweet to the taste than cane sugar, can be added in relatively large quantities to drinks without causing nausea. Fat is often not well tolerated during an acute illness and should be restricted.

If there is no vomiting and no severe diarrhea, enough fluid can be given by mouth in the form of frequent drinks. A sick child will usually take drinks of fresh fruit juice or fruit squash, such as orangeade or lemonade, also cold barley water with added glucose. Boiled sugar sweets are often used, also jellies, ice cream, and egg beaten up in skimmed milk. These may all be useful as part of the diet. If vomiting is severe and the child cannot take anything by mouth, fluids must be given by injection. In this event saline solution with added glucose and perhaps protein hydrolysate or amino-acid solutions may have to be used. (I have written before of the Scotch medical students who took quantities of hydrolysate and amino-acids to the starving people in Europe during of wonderful benefits they derived from them in a short period of time.)

The liquid diet is often used when there is a disturbance of the digestion and the digestive system needs rest, not work. Thus all liquid foods and foods that are liquid at room temperature are used: clear soups, fruit juices, milk, gruel, soft eggs and sugar solutions. The amount of food in the liquid diet is given in small feedings in every two or three hours. The patient is a bed patient. Sometimes parents worry and rightly so because a sick child cannot eat, but they must remember that what the system requires at the moment can be obtained from sources other than solid food.

"That English Climate Was Awful"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — New ideas on how to set up and make an international atomic disarmament inspection service effective have been presented to a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee. The plans are submitted by a score of New England university professors — lawyers, scientists and authorities on Russia.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), chairman of the disarmament subcommittee, and Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.) went to Harvard to get this presentation. It got little publicity. But the two senators came back to Washington saying that the day-long hearing was one of the most constructive they ever attended. Their record will be published soon.

Deans Erwin N. Griswold and Donald F. Cavers of Harvard Law School and Prof. Max Millikan of Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Center of International Studies arranged the session and rounded up the experts to testify.

CHARLES D. CORVELL, MIT chemistry professor who has had 14 years experience in U. S. atomic laboratories, gave the senators one of their more stimulating ideas.

It is that a corps of international scientists and engineers be assembled and trained now, to experiment on techniques for atomic energy materials inspection.

At the present time, stored atomic bombs can be detected only by house-to-house X-ray, which is impractical. X-rays still have to be invented to achieve an effective inspection system. One of the greatest roadblocks to this, says Corvell, is the secrecy which Atomic Energy Commission maintains on its Russian bomb detection methods.

A field laboratory which Corvell believes is available for atomic inspection research is President Eisenhower's plan to distribute 22 tons of fissionable materials for peaceful uses in friendly countries.

SINCE ALL fissionable materials can be used in atomic weapons, the techniques of control could first be worked out for power reactors built in places like Belgium. More specifically, Prof. Corvell proposes that the "open sky inspection policy" advocated by President Eisenhower at Geneva should now be carried on experimentally by the United States and Great Britain. Inspection teams from one country could be assigned to the other for development of control techniques and training.

"I would be wise to test this inspection technique in friendly countries before we try it out in the Ukraine," Prof. Corvell advised. Louis B. Sohn, Harvard law professor, told the senators, "No other step can be taken toward disarmament until the inspection service is ready to function."

PROF. SOHN, President Donald Stone of Springfield College, a former Marshall plan administrator, and other experts advocated strengthening of the United Nations as the organization to administer disarmament. Sohn went further than the others, however, in advocating that all atomic weapons' fissionable materials be turned over to the new UN international atomic energy agency, whose draft charter has just been completed. This body would then parcel out the material for peaceful uses.

As a member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, Sen. Pastore objected to that. But President Eisenhower's proposal of three years ago provides one basis for the idea. The President's plan was to take the savings from disarmament and use them for technical assistance and economic improvement in underdeveloped countries.

Asks Contempt Citation

New York, May 5 (AP)—An assistant district attorney has asked for a contempt citation against John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardia as a balking witness before the grand jury probing labor racketeering. Dio, reputedly a shadowy figure in the city's trucking world, appeared before the grand jury yesterday as vice president of the Equitable Research Associates Corp. The firm describes itself as a labor relations consultant. Subpoenaed to produce the company's books, Dio claimed he didn't have them. He also declined to answer any questions about them.

Mayor Requests Cooperation In Use of One-Way Streets

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who today issued instructions on the proper use of the one-way street system in the uptown area, asked the cooperation of the public to see that the system is properly used.

The mayor said:

To make the best use of what we have is simply good business and good common sense. The new one-way street system in the uptown business area has, I believe, enabled us to make better use of our city streets in that area at the cost of but a few traffic signs.

The purpose of the one-way street system is to reduce traffic delays and congestion and to provide greater safety for both motorists and pedestrians. By reducing delays and congestion we feel that more people will be encouraged to trade in our city.

All motorists and pedestrians can help to make the one-way street plan an even greater success if they will follow the few simple suggestions listed below:

1. WATCH FOR ONE-WAY TRAFFIC SIGNS
Signs are posted at all intersections indicating the direction of travel. Look for these one-way traffic signs, be governed accordingly and avoid the embarrassment of going the wrong way on a one-way street.
2. USE ALL LANES
Under one-way operation, all lanes of the streets may and should be used. For example, on Clinton Avenue the lane previously used by southbound traffic is now available to northbound traffic. By "doubling up" on all one-way streets where more than one lane is available, traffic can be moved more quickly and efficiently. As soon as weather permits, the city will paint lane lines on the one-way streets to mark the moving lanes of travel.
3. MAKE TURNS FROM PROPER LANES
Drivers desiring to turn from a one-way street should make sure that the car is positioned properly in the extreme left lane (for a left turn) or in the extreme right lane (for a right turn).
4. FAMILIARIZE YOURSELF WITH THE ONE-WAY STREET SYSTEM
Motorists may find some slight change necessary in their travel habits. Where previously a destination was approached from the north it may now be necessary to approach it from the south because the street is now one-way northbound. By learning the direction of travel of the streets the trip may be planned to reduce to a minimum any possible inconvenience.
5. OBSERVE CITY SPEED LIMITS
The purpose of one-way streets is to reduce delays—the purpose is not to increase speed. Observe the speed limit at all times. The speed limit in the city is 25 miles per hour.
6. COOPERATE WITH POLICE OFFICERS
Be alert to the directions of police officers stationed at intersections on the one-way network and be prompt to follow their instruction. They are there to help you and all motorists and pedestrians to reach your destination with minimum delays and maximum safety.
7. WATCH FOR PEDESTRIANS
While the one-way plan provides a safer traffic pattern for all, motorists should continue to be especially alert to avoid striking a pedestrian.
8. PARKING METERS
When using meters, place the coin in the meter at the front of your car.

Nudeist Film Banned
Albany, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—The Board of Regents has refused to license for commercial showing "Garden of Eden," a movie of life in a nudist camp. The board yesterday denied an appeal from Excelsior Pictures Corp. from the refusal of the board's motion picture division to allow commercial showing in New York state.

A special committee, which had viewed the film, reported that it "depicts in color the life in a nudist camp with many views of nude men, women and children, walking, talking, swimming and playing together." The Regents said a license would not be issued unless scenes considered objectionable were eliminated as directed.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER
I am always interested to read articles on the Kingston Fire Department when written by Chief Joseph L. Murphy. He spent some 50 years fighting fires in Kingston, and as I remember him at nearby fires, he was always there just about when the fire bells started ringing, and stayed to the end. I often wondered how he could get to the fires, no matter in what part of the town so quickly. He was always quiet spoken, never excited, and his men obeyed him explicitly and with great respect.

A fire in a congested city like ours seems to involve so much. The saving of the building, the immediately congested traffic, the big hose all over the street, the folks who seem to stand in danger of their lives, the safety of the firemen going into gas and smoke filled buildings, tripping on hose, falling through burning buildings, tripping on the soaked floors in their slippery boots, and many other hazards too numerous to mention.

Just now we have had two large fires uptown and luckily no one was seriously hurt. I would like to see Chief Murphy really sit down and write his experiences, down through the years of all the fires he attended for the city of Kingston. It would take a book to cover his observations but Kingston should own such a book. As time goes on his articles will become even more interesting, and important.

Chief Murphy wrote up the Kingston Fire Department in the "People's History of Kingston, Rondout and Vicinity" compiled by William C. DeWitt, City Historian back in 1943. Mr. Murphy starts the article with: "With a history of glorious achievement behind it, Kingston's fire department this year, (1956) is celebrating its 182nd anniversary, a record that few, if any, fire departments in New York state can equal."

Organized on November 27, 1854, when a fire engine was ordered from England at a cost not to exceed 80 pounds, the fire department's equipment today, entirely motorized, totals an expenditure of $95,000. "The department at the time was in charge of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Deputy Fire Chief Frederick M. Leverich, with a force of 30 paid fire fighters, every one a picked man, both mentally and physically. In addition there are 10 volunteer fire companies in Kingston. Kingston has now passed the 200th anniversary of the organization of the fire department."

Fire Chief Murphy writes in an interesting anecdote style going back to 1816, "the days of the leather buckets, when every household was required to keep at hand a certain number, each bucket bearing the initial of the owner. When an alarm of fire was sounded the buckets were either thrown out in front of the house for someone else to use or were carried to the fire by the householder, who would help form a bucket brigade from the nearest water supply to the scene of the fire. It was with the use of these leather buckets, each holding about 8 quarts of water, and the primitive fire engine, that the fires that occasionally broke out were fought." Then he goes on to say: "It was not until 1848 that the modern fire department as we know it first came into existence with the organization of the Proctor Engine Co., equipped with a hand fire engine, which was housed in an old barn on Mill street in Rondout. "I am sure Chief Murphy could describe in great detail the change of fire fighting equipment and methods through the half century he fought fires in Kingston. I certainly would enjoy reading it."

School Bans Magazines
Shreveport, La., May 5 (AP)—Three magazines—Time, Life and Look—were banned today from the school libraries or adjoining Bossier parish (county) because the school board said it objected to the publications' treatment of segregation. A resolution, announced yesterday, said the ban was effective at once. The resolution said the magazines had waged a "systematic campaign to prejudice the American people against the South by presenting in their columns biased and distorted views on the institution of segregation of races in our schools."

Methodists Rule Women May Now Become Pastors

Minneapolis, May 5 (AP)—The Methodist Church today had a new kind of regular ministers—women.

They're now eligible to join the ranks of the official clergy of America's largest Protestant denomination.

THE CHURCH'S law-making general conference gave its sanction yesterday after hours of turbulent, see-saw debate.

It was the climax of years of contention within the church over the fitness of women to serve full-fledged pastoral posts. After the decision, Dr. Georgia Harkness, a Berkeley, Calif., theological professor who had been in the forefront of the struggle for equal clerical status for women rose, and walked to a microphone.

SHE SAID some people had been wondering why she took no part in the final verbal battle. "The Bible says," she added, "that there is a time to speak and a time to be silent. This was the time for me to be silent."

She smiled broadly, and sat down.

BUT FEW OTHERS had been silent in the whirl of proposals and counter-proposals that surged about the subject of women—and their qualifications as ministers.

It was a move by the Rev. Dr. Zach T. Johnson, president of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., that finally was approved—putting women on par with men in filling the church's 40,000 pulpits.

Five Are Hurt In Resort Fire; Damage $400,000

Long Beach, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Five persons, including one guest, were injured last night when fire destroyed the four-story Adelon Hotel in this Long Island resort city. Damage was estimated at $400,000.

Several hundred firemen, who raced to the scene from adjacent communities, still were battling the blaze early today.

MORE THAN 200 persons, taking part in a local bridge tournament, fled to safety from the hotel's dining room. About 20 guests also were evacuated.

Taken to Long Beach Memorial Hospital were the following: Pete Damone, about 21, of Island Park, N. Y., football player and wrestler at Hofstra College, suffering from smoke poisoning and shock. Damone is a member of the Island Park volunteer fire company.

Fire Lt. Hyman Goldstein of Long Beach, and fireman Jerry Grady, smoke inhalation; George Bergman, a guest, reported heart seizure and smoke inhalation; and David Osed, whose wife, Florence, is part owner and manager of the hotel. Osed suffered burns.

THE HOSPITAL said early today that none of the injured is in critical condition. The fire was believed to have started in a heap of oil rags in a storeroom next to the boiler room of the 90-room hotel, on the south shore of Nassau county. Bergman, reportedly suffering from a heart ailment, was injured while helping to fight the blaze.

An attractive front door, such as the one with the three glass panels used in the illustration, also can dress up and beautify the exterior of any simply designed home such as "The Blackdale." There is a small entry hall in this house so that drafts caused by opening the front door don't reach the living room. The large closet, in the right wall of the entry hall, can serve a multitude of useful storage purposes.

Furniture Placement

Large and well lighted, the 20' x 11'4" living room serves as both dining room and living room. There is a large picture window, flanked by casement windows in the front wall; two more windows flank the large fireplace centered in the left wall of the room. Place the dining room set near the door to the kitchen which is located in the back wall. The unbroken expanses along the back and right walls of the room facilitate the attractive and convenient arrangement of large furniture pieces.

With counters, cupboards and cabinets lining the back and right walls, the kitchen is arranged for the comfort and convenience of the busy housewife. The stove is placed at the right end of the line of counters in this 12'6" x 11'4" kitchen; the sink is located under the double windows in the back wall.

Situated as it is against the front kitchen wall, the refrigerator is only a few steps away from the stove. The breakfast nook, placed in the left front corner of the room, receives extra light and ventilation through the window looking out on the front porch. You'll appreciate the good sized broom closet in the left back corner of the kitchen, near the door to the laundry.

Protects Garage Entry

Two windows and two doors make the laundry a pleasant and well ventilated room. Measuring 9'x7', this room is large enough to accommodate complete equipment for a modern home laundry. Doors from the laundry lead to the front porch, which provides protected entrance to the garage, and to the back porch or sun deck from which you can easily reach the back yard.

Windows on opposite walls provide sufficient light and good ventilation for the 20'x11' garage. There is ample room in the garage for overhead storage space; there is room also for a small work bench for the home handyman, if you care to have one installed. Place such a bench near one of the windows, however.

The bedrooms and bath occupy the right half of "The Blackdale." These rooms are all connected by a central hallway leading from a door in the right living room wall. A large linen closet opens on this hallway beside the doorway from the living room. In this location the linen closet is conveniently near to both the bedrooms and the bathroom.

tilation through one window in its front wall, the all modern bath contains both a tub and a shower. The den or bedroom receives good light and ventilation through two windows in its back wall. This 11'x11'4" room contains two closets—a feature that will be especially appreciated if this room is used as a bedroom for two members of the family.

Measuring 12'x11', the back bedroom receives good lighting and cross ventilation from the window in the right wall of the room and the other window in the back wall of the room.

There also is a large closet in the front bedroom which is 11 foot square in measurements. This room, too, enjoys the benefits of cross ventilation.

Wood Sealers In Wide Use

Wood sealers which are being more and more widely used both inside and outside the house are synthetic resins in liquid form which penetrate the wood and close up the pores. They can be had either clear or in colors. The soft portions of the wood absorb the sealer, thus making it easier to stain, paint or finish clear.

Some sealers contain stains so both operations can be performed with a single coat. Others produce a lovely blond effect which brings out the sunny color of hemlock and the soft reds of western red cedar. These sealers are particularly good for builtins and paneling.

Homemade Dust Rag Does Efficient Job

Want to make your own dust rag? Here's a suggestion by the home economics department of the University of Rhode Island: Wash a piece of cheesecloth in hot water and wring dry. Pour a small amount of turpentine over the cloth until it is barely damp, and then wring dry. Apply varnish to the cloth, working it in until the cloth is yellow. Wring the cloth again until it is damp enough to pick up dust. Keep this tack rag in a glass jar when not in use.

Loose Hammers

If the wooden handle of your hammer is loose, it can be tightened by soaking the head of the hammer in engine oil overnight. The oil will swell the wood to fit the head again, and will not dry out. Be careful not to soak the entire handle in oil, or it will feel greasy and tend to slip in the hand.

Dehumidifier Reduces Moisture in House

A popular means of reducing the undesirable moisture content of the air within a home is to use a dehumidifier. Mechanical dehumidifiers consist of a refrigerated coil that operates at a temperature slightly above freezing. A fan draws the air of the room over these coils where the air is cooled. Since the cooled air cannot hold as much moisture as it could when it was warm, the excess moisture is deposited on the coils. From there it drips into a covered container.

No Colors Really Fast

Intense sunlight for prolonged periods will fade even the fastest of colors. It's true economy to keep the blinds or shade drawn in rooms with western or southern exposure when the sun is at its brightest.

Opening of New Community On the Bearsville Road

Ulster Homes, Inc., which recently completed the delivery of 219 homes in Mt. Marion Park, is opening today a new community of intermediate priced, all-electric homes in collaboration with National Homes Corporation and General Electric on the Bearsville Road in Woodstock (Route 212). The new homes in Woodstock Gardens are more elaborate than those at Mt. Marion.

Hendrick A. Wolter, president of Ulster Homes, Inc., says that the advantages passed on to Ulster Homes and its other builder-dealer by National Homes start with volume-purchasing of brand-name materials and equipment. During 1955, for example, National Homes purchased 87.5 million board feet of lumber, making it the largest individual buyer in the United States.

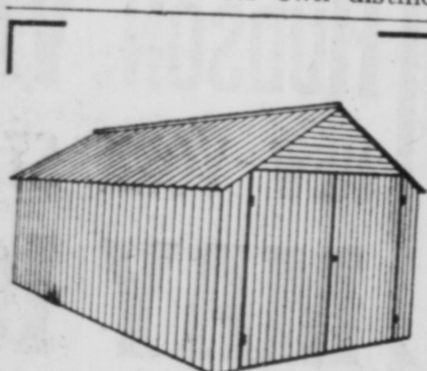

FAMOUS-NAME equipment available in National homes includes an all-electric kitchen by General Electric, heating by General Motors—Delco furnaces, Styrofoam floor insulation by Dow Chemical; Fiberglas wall and ceiling insulation by Owens-Corning; aluminum windows by General Bronze Corporation; interior surfacing by United States Gypsum; and roofing by Johns-Manville.

The advantages gained through volume purchasing of these brand-name products is reflected in the lower cost and high quality of National homes. One important result is that millions of American families now are able to buy better homes, equipped with the finest modern conveniences, for less than it had cost them to rent comparable housing.

Mr. Wolter also declares that in all National homes the doors and windows are installed, trimmed and carefully pre-fitted in the factory. The material and workmanship used to produce these two items are guaranteed by National Homes. As a result, the builder-dealer is relieved of any difficulty with the doors and windows, a major source of trouble when building the conventional way.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE lies in the fact that Ulster Homes, Inc. can advertise locally a firm price on this "brand name" product — the National home. This is possible because his costs do not vary on the house package, which represents a large part of the building job. Also, because he is able to erect and finish the house in a short time, there is less likelihood of price increases on materials which the builder-dealer must purchase locally. So there are no surprises for the home-buyer in the cost of his house.

Finally, its large production enables National Homes to retain the foremost authorities in the home field to design and color style its houses. So the local National Homes builder-dealer can offer a wide range of basic floor plans and exterior variations from which the home buyer may choose. He also can offer color-styling that gives every National home its own distinctive appearance and adds to the attractiveness of the entire community of National homes.

Paltz Teachers College to Host Area Conference

The State University Teachers College at New Paltz will be host to the annual workshop and conference of the southeastern zone of New York State Teachers Association, Thursday, May 10, beginning at 4 p. m. Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend.

The purpose of the conference, according to Dr. Wm. J. Haggerty, president of the college, is to provide teachers with an opportunity to discuss the problems, which they face as educators, to exchange ideas and ways of solving their problems, and to share present practices which seem to have merit.

AMONG THE topics to be discussed are, "The Professional Practices Act," "The Retirement System and Social Security," "What Is a Good Teacher Worth?" "Teachers Face Themselves," and "Problems of Certification."

Rodney M. Jones, assistant professor at the Campus School, is in charge of the local arrangements and Miss Ruth E. Jones, associate professor at the Campus School, will act as a consultant on the topic, "Teachers Face Themselves."

Special Coatings Protect Roofs

There are, in the main, three types of roofs on which special coatings are used for preservation and beautification.

For wood shingle roofs, there are special preservative stains. New shingles should be dipped in such a preservative before they are attached.

For flat roofs, built up of layers of felt and asphalt, protective fibred or unfibred roof coatings—or room cements—or asphalt emulsion should be used.

Tin roofs are safeguarded with the type of roof paints formulated for metal surfaces. Special metal primers must first be applied.

Patience Will Pay Off In Home Improvements

Many families move into a new home which has one or two room areas unfinished. Often they tackle the finishing job too soon, only to find the budget running out. Then, in a flurry to complete the room, they settle for inferior materials and shoddy installation. The best advice is: Don't tackle the job too soon. Wait until you've really planned it out and are ready to use quality materials. Patience and planning pay off. You'll want a room to be proud of for a life-time and not one that's going to need remodeling in three to five years.

Lock Care

Sticking locks can often be cured by blowing powdered graphite into the latch opening. A handy pressure tube of graphite can be purchased at any hardware store. If the latch sticks against the door frame latch plate, a bit of paste floor wax rubbed on the latch and allowed to dry may lubricate it enough to work easily.

Seal Old Stain

If you plant to paint over a surface that has previously been stained, first apply a stain sealer to prevent any possibility of the stain "bleeding" through the new coating.

Glenrie Meeting

A regular meeting is scheduled Tuesday of Schneider's Aroma, Deodorized Order of the Skunk, at Schneider's Hotel, Glenrie, on 9W. Movies will be featured at the session to open at 8:30 p. m.

Old Coffee Table Can Be Used for Games

An easy renovation project for an old coffee table or bridge table is to transform it into a smart modern looking game table with rubber tile. The resilient tile is easy to cut with a flooring knife into small squares needed for a checkerboard.

Lay the tiles on the table top in the pattern desired, then remove and spread surface with rubber tile adhesive and lay tiles in place. Allow to dry 24 hours before using. The rubber top will not be marred by cigarette burns and is easy to keep clean with a damp cloth.

Sanding Essential

Hardwood flooring comes from the mill smoothly surfaced. But in laying any floor slight inequalities, also scratches and other marks, will appear. These can be removed by scraping and sanding. A smooth sanding is essential for a good finish job. After sanding, the floor should be brushed perfectly clean and the finish immediately applied.

New Kind of Nails

"Threaded" nails have exceptional holding power for such jobs as laying flooring, installing gypsum wallboard, and siding. You can also use them in repairing loose flooring and eliminating "bumps" under tile flooring and "popped" nails in dry-wall installations. You drive them in like nails, yet they twist like screws.

Nail It Tight

Base molding should be nailed through the finish floor into the subflooring.

SIGNS OF FRIENDSHIP—A retired streetcar conductor is well started on a full-time career of being a friend of man. He's Charles A. Roe of Cleveland, Ohio, who hangs large plastic signs in front of his home. They cost him nine dollars apiece plus 20 cents a letter. Roe, whose signs range from invitations and directions to the nearest church to timely reminders and maxims on life, has had many a passerby stop in for a friendly chat. He started with a "Season's Greeting" sign last November and now has six, with more in the planning stage. Some of them are pictured above.

Middies Win Birock Halts Port Jervis On One-Hit

John Birock tossed a one-hitter against Port Jervis High School as Middletown High blanked the Red Raiders, 8-0, yesterday at the Mid-City in a DUSO League contest.

The bespectacled righthander came within three outs of achieving a no-hitter in the seven-inning duel. Center fielder Bill Decker's clean single as first hitter up in the final frame spoiled Birock's bid.

Birock's performance was the best so far in this season in the loop. He struck out 11 and didn't walk a man.

FASTBALLING Fred Ropke was the loser and was supplanted in the sixth inning by John Romeo in the midst of a five-run Middle rally. Romeo was touched up for a double and single before settling down the side.

Pete Nickles, with a pair of doubles, and Gene Brigham, with two singles, paced the eight-hit attack for the Middies.

ROPEKES WAS the victim of some shabby fielding by his mates who made five errors. Before departing he struck out 10 and passed four.

The win puts the Middies in a second place tie with Newburgh behind pace-setting Poughkeepsie, with a 1-1 record.

Williamsport Nips Reading Club, 3-1

(By The Associated Press)

The Grays' Brown has given the Redmen red faces.

Translation: The Williamsport Grays defeated the host Reading Indians, 1955 Eastern League pennant-winners, 3-1 last night behind the three-hit pitching of Jack Brown.

Brandy Davis shared the victory honors by driving in all three of the Williamsport runs—two with a triple in the second, the third with a bases-full single in the ninth.

In one other game, the Allentown Redbirds pinned a 4-3 defeat on the visiting Johnstown Johnnies' Dick Maibauer, who had stifled them for seven innings, with a come-from-behind rally in the eighth.

The other two games, Albany at Binghamton and Schenectady at Syracuse, were postponed because of the cold, rainy weather.

Smith Tops NFA For Pioneers, 7-0

Al Smith pitched Poughkeepsie High School into first place in the DUSO League by holding Newburgh Free Academy to three hits for a 7-0 victory yesterday at Newburgh.

It was the second win in loop play in as many starts for the Pioneers. Newburgh absorbed its first setback after one success.

Lefthander John Steele started for NFA and was charged with the defeat. Rodney Coleman took over in the fifth and finished up.

Irish Captures Featured Pace

Westbury, N. Y., May 5 (P)—Irish, unbeaten this season, made it four straight by winning the Whitestone Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night.

The 4-year-old bay horse, owned by James Scileppi of Massapequa, N. Y., paced the mile in 2:04 and beat Steward Lad by two lengths. The Engineer was third.

Irish, driven by Eddie Cobb, paid $6 as the second choice.

Needles Remains Horse to Beat Among 17 in Kentucky Derby

Louisville, Ky., May 5 (P)—

The 82nd Kentucky Derby, one of America's most colorful sports events, lured 17 of the nation's finest 3-year-old thoroughbreds and something over 100,000 people to sprawling Churchill Downs today as Needles remained the horse to beat.

After a week of alternating rain and sunshine, the weatherman promised near perfect overhead conditions for the renewal of the $125,000 added race at a mile and one-quarter.

The forecast was cloudy and warm. But it was doubtful if the racing strip would be at its best because of frequent rains this week.

Post time was 5:30 p. m. EDT. For those not able to make the trek to this horse-loving Ohio River town or find a vantage point at the Downs from which to watch the race, there was television and radio from 5:15 to 5:45 p. m. EDT, (CBS).

Eighteen horses, representing 15 of the nation's top drawer racing establishments, were named, originally, for the race which often has been called "The Run for the Roses." But T. A. Grissom's Reaping Right, Louisiana Derby winner, was scratched Thursday after injuring himself in a workout. And at least one other horse, Mrs. Helen Kellogg's Come On Red, a lover of mud, will not be a starter if the racing strip is dry.

But on the basis of 17 starters, the race had a record gross value of $167,550 with a net of $123,450 to the winner.

The previous highs were the gross of $152,500 and the winner's share of $108,400 established last year when Swaps led nine rivals to the finish line. That was the year the added money was upped to $125,000.

Needles, the sensation of the Florida racing season, remained the firm choice at 2 to 1. The colt, who made his reputation in the Flamingo Stakes and Florida Derby as a great stretch runner, is owned by Jack Dudley of Stillwater, Okla., and Bonnie Heath of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. They operate under the name of the D. & H. Stable.

Dave Erb, astride Needles as he rose to prominence, again was assigned to ride the son of Ponder, himself winner of the 1949 Derby.

SECOND CHOICE in the pre-race calculations at 3 to 1 was the entry of Fabius and Pintor Lea from Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm. Fabius, with Willie Hartack, the sports No. 1 rider last year, in the saddle was the solid horse of the pair with three straight victories, including the mile derby trial last Tuesday.

But Pintor Lea, ridden by Bobby Baird, could well be the surprise. He was considered the better of the two before wrenching a knee 10 days ago. Trainer Jimmy Jones said the son of Goya II has shown no evidence of the injury the last few days but added he would withhold final decision until the last possible minute.

The owners have until 45 minutes before post time to scratch. After that they must pay an additional $1,250 to get their horse in the post parade as the combined bands strike up "My Old Kentucky Home."

IN THE THIRD spot at 4 to 1 was C. V. Whitney's entry of Career Boy, strictly a fast track performer, and Head Man. Career Boy has Eric Guerin handling the reins while in Head Man's saddle was Eddie Arcaro, the king of Derby jockeys.

Higgins Training
Camp Prophecy
Coming to Life

BY RIP WATSON
The Associated Press

Put down Manager Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox as one of the better training camp prophecs.

"It's hopeless to try to win without plenty of good reserves
these days," he said in Sarasota, Fla., in February.

"And that's why we'll be a better club this year. No matter how I use Mickey Vernon and Norm Zaichin around first base, we will be better off, because one or the other always will be on the bench rested and rearing to go to bat. And I feel certain a couple of boys I had at Louisville are ready to help us. Don Buddin, a shortstop, and Frank Malzone at third."

His prophecy came true yesterday as the Red Sox won their fourth game in five starts, beating Detroit 6-4 with a home run by Zaichin for the first run and three hits by Buddin, including a two-run single that put the Sox ahead to stay in the fourth inning.

VERNON DIDN'T play but he's been hitting .302 with a couple of important homers and 9 runs batted in. Malzone is batting only .250, but he homered and fielded brilliantly in Thursday's game.

Their latest victory left the Red Sox in fourth place, a distinct improvement over their 9-12 record a year ago today.

The New York Yankees held first place by beating Kansas City 10-6 with a four-run eighth inning in which a battle of managerial masterminding ended with the winning run scoring on a dribbler to the infield.

The Chicago White Sox pulled into a percentage tie for first with the Yanks as Dick Donovan turned back Washington 5-2, but they trail by a game on a won and lost basis. The two clubs clash in a crucial doubleheader
Sunday in Yankee Stadium.

Baltimore made the most of three hits and erratic pitching and catching by Cleveland to nip the Tribe 4-3 and thereby crawl out of the American League cellar. Detroit is the new occupant.

Milwaukee and St. Louis remained in a virtual tie for the National League lead, but the Braves nipped the New York Giants 3-2 in 10 innings and the Dodgers handed the Cardinals five gift runs in one inning for a 10-3 St.
Louis victory.

ART FOWLER pitched Cincinnati to a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh despite Frank Thomas' seventh home run of the campaign, good for two runs. But a two-run homer by Chicago's Ernie Banks was enough to hand
Robin Roberts of Philadelphia his first defeat of the season, Bob Rush outpitching the Philly Ace
2-1.

Bobby Thomson, Ted Crandall,
Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews shared the starring roles for the Braves. With the Braves trailing 2-1 in the last of the ninth, Thomson singled, moved around on a sacrifice and infield out then romped home as Crandall drove out a double on a 3-2 pitch. Mathews singled home Logan with the winning run in the 10th after the shortstop singled and moved to second on a passed ball.

Dave Jolly, pitching the 10th in relief of Lew Burdette, picked up the win while Johnny Antonelli was the loser. He had doubled and scored the run that put the Giants ahead at 2-1 in the eighth.

THE DODGERS threw the ball all over Busch Stadium in St. Louis in the sixth inning as the Cards came up with seven runs on only four hits. Wild throws by veteran shortstop Peewee Reese and rookie pitcher Chuck Templeton, a wild pitch by relief pitcher Ed Roebuck and a balk by Sandy Koufax, third Dodger chucker of the inning, made it easy for the Cardinals. Rip Repulski had a solo homer for the winners.

Fowler gave up only six hits in winning his second game for the Redlegs, who had Ted Klus-zewski back in the lineup after a week's rest on the bench. Klu-went 0 for 4, however, and Roy McMillan drove in the winning runs with a two-run single.

The masterminding in the New York-Kansas City went into high gear when the Yanks put men on second and third with one out and the score 6-6 in the eighth inning. A dazzling succession of pinchhitters, substitute runners and relief pitchers, all with the left hander's right hander strategy in mind, brought Joe Collins to the plate with the bases loaded. He sent an anticlimatic dribbler to shortstop which was just good enough for Bob Cerv to beat the throw to the plate. An infield out and Mickey Mantle's two-run single clinched it for the Yanks.
